Rafaela Quintanilla-Reyes

Junior Frontend Developer

rafaela.quintanilla@example.org · Valencia, Spain

SUMMARY

Junior developer with one and a half years of professional experience after a coding bootcamp. I work on React interfaces, fix bugs quickly and ask good questions. I want to deepen my CSS and testing skills in a supportive team. I am organised, curious and motivated by seeing real users benefit from my work. I keep a learning log and spend an hour every week on a small side project to practise new skills.

SKILLS

React, JavaScript, HTML, CSS, Sass, Git, Jest, Chakra UI, REST APIs, Figma, Debugging with dev tools, Agile ceremonies, Teamwork

EXPERIENCE

Junior Frontend Developer, Naranja Apps 2023 – Present

- Implement new screens in React for a booking app used by 30 hotels.
- Fixed over 90 UI bugs reported by customers.
- Added unit tests for form validation helpers.
- Take part in daily stand-ups and code reviews.
- Review pull requests from teammates and have started pairing with the backend developers to understand API changes.

Web Development Intern, Turia Creative 2022 – 2023

- Converted Figma mockups into responsive pages.
- Helped update an e-commerce theme and tested it across browsers.
- Wrote a checklist for responsive testing on phones that the team now follows before releases.
- Presented a short demo of my intern project to the whole company.

Customer Support Agent (career change), Costa Levante Viajes 2020 – 2021

- Handled booking enquiries from travellers and documented recurring problems in the website's checkout.
- Wrote clear bug descriptions for the web team, which sparked my interest in development.
- Learned HTML and CSS in the evenings through online courses before joining the bootcamp.
- Learned to use browser developer tools to inspect network requests and debug layout problems.
- Attended weekly knowledge sharing sessions on testing and design.

EDUCATION

- Full-Stack Web Bootcamp Certificate (tourism and hospitality management), Mediterranean Code Academy (2022)
- Grado en Turismo, Universidad de la Costa Levantina (2016 – 2020)
